Q28 Some services provide tools to report on-line or on-demand TV or video content e.g. TV programmes, films, video clips, video podcasts or anything else you watch on-line or on-demand.
For example, you can let the service know that you did not like their content because it was offensive or invaded someone's privacy by 'flagging' it (i.e. reporting it by pressing a button).
Have you ever seen this type of reporting tool on any of the services that you use?
Please select as many as apply.

For example, you can let the service know that you did not like their content because it was offensive or invaded someone's privacy by 'flagging' it (i.e. reporting it by pressing a button).
Have you ever seen this type of reporting tool on any of the services that you use?
Please select as many as apply.

Q32a Thinking about all the content we have been talking about, what level of regulation do you think there should be when people watch these services on TV set-top box for on-demand content with a subscription service?
So, on a scale of 1 to 5, where 5 is they should be highly regulated, and 1 is they should not be regulated at all, do you think these on-line and on-demand TV and video services e.g. TV programmes, films, video clips, video podcasts or anything else you watch on-line or on-demand>> should be regulated on TV set-top box for on-demand content with a subscription service?
