

I think it's about time that we taxpayers are given a fair crack of the whip as far as HD tv is concerned. There are so many get rich type businesses out there that stand to gain from the sell off of the hd spectrum. I believe that we've forfeited spectacularly huge revenues over the years in the form of tv licences and vat on new HD tv and related appliances and we should benefit from the investment that's been taken from us.