

I agree with the regulations as proposed, in particular legalising the use of micro FM transmitters for use in cars and FM stereos in the home. With much radio being delivered via Satellite and Freeview boxes, it makes sense to be able to connect a device to them to listen to the radio stations offered on a "normal" receiver around the home.