

Regarding the BBC proposal to put its programmes online, I do trust that that this will be cross-platform i.e. include Apple Mac and the iPod, which is the most widely used media player.

The best solution would be to put programmes on iTunes, which is easy to use, and can be accessed by both Mac and PC.