

From:	✂
To:	BBC Studiosreview < BBC.Studiosreview@ofcom.org.uk >
Subject:	EXTERNAL:Review of the interaction between the BBC Studios and the BBC Public Service.

My Comments:

As Ofcom appear ineffectual (see my comments re; Consultation on changes to Public Broadcasting Licences)

I am concerned about the link between BBC Studios and BBC Public Service.

There may be, some influence, between a Commercial Enterprise(BBC Studios) and a non-Commercial Enterprise(BBC Public Service).

1. Should there be, two separate organisations?

2. Funding arrangements as of now; BBC Public Service obtains Licence Money, plus BBC Studios attribute to the BBC Public Service?

BBC Studios obtains Income from Commercial Activities?

3. Broadcasting Facilities owned by BBC Public Service, are either, rented/free to BBC Studios?

I feel that, the above, will ensure, to the Public, that BBC Public Broadcasting is truly a Free Media Organisation.

Thanks for the opportunity to comment, much appreciated,

Regards,

✂