

Hi. I am E-mailing you directly to say a few pointers towards the consultation to do with EPG's. I am fortunately one of the lucky totally blind people who has a Panasonic Viera TV's with voice guidance. I can switch audio description on and read the TV guide. It is very frustrating when I want to watch something with family or friends and there is no AD. I lose the plot of the program and I have to ask people what's going on. I therefore feel for the other people in this same situation and who may not have a Panasonic TV like this.

I hope these changes that take effect will work out and I will find out soon. Kind regards.
