Additional comments:

Question 1: Do you agree that copy management would broaden the range of HD content available on DTT and help secure its long term viability as a platform? :

NO.

It would simply lead to more determined efforts to circumvent restrictions which would in turn lead to greater effort (and cost) to prevent such circumvention.

Question 2: Do you agree that the BBC's proposed multiplex licence amendment represents the most appropriate means for securing an effective content management system on HD DTT? :

NO

The broadcast is for public consumption and should remain free of restrictions

Question 3: Do you agree with the proposed change to Condition 6 in the Multiplex B Licence? :

NO

Question 4: Do you agree that Multiplexes C and D should be granted a similar amendment to their Licences as Multiplex B?. :

NO

Question 5: Do you agree that the BBC's proposed approach for implementing content management would safeguard citizens and consumers legitimate use of HD content, and if not, what additional guarantees would be appropriate? :

NO

Why do we need additional guarantees? Broadcast programmes should be open and unrestricted. Viewers have been able to record programmes since video tapes were introduced, we still have a viable industry, restrictions will only harm the industry by driving up prices and annoying viewers.

Question 6: Do you agree that the BBC's proposed choice of content management technologies will have only a negligible impact on the cost of HD DTT receivers and their interoperability with other HD consumer equipment? . :

NO

We risk creating an isolated market segment with special equipment requirements, preventing the use of equipment purchased abroad and reducing consumer choice.

Question 7: Do stakeholders agree that the BBC's proposed Huffman Code licensing arrangements would have a negligible effect on the market for HD DTT receivers? :

NO

You must be kidding!!

Question 8: Do the BBC's proposed content management states and their permitted use for different categories of HD content meet the requirements of other HD broadcasters on DTT? . :

Not having discussed matters with other HD broadcasters I cannot answer this one.

Question 9: Are there any issues that you consider Ofcom should take into account in assessing the BBC's proposal, that have not been addressed by this consultation?:

Consumer choice!
