I feel the request should be granted, subject to an obligation on the beneficiaries (e. g. TalkTalk) to replace DECT equipment where it can be shown to have become unusable, or significantly degraded in usability, due to the use by the beneficiary of equipment using the relaxed limits; the burden of proof required being limited, i. e. within the capabilities of the home user not in possession of specialised test equipment (beneficiary to assist in checking by. e. g., temporarily turning off equipment).
