Please seriously consider the major strength of Royal Mail, which is to deliver items at the same cost across the whole of the UK. To consider anything else will severely disadvantage the rural areas of the country and could increase depopulation and unemployment in these areas even further.

Question 1: Secure, so far as reasonably practicable, that all significant risks that their other activities will have an adverse effect on the carrying out, during the relevant licence period, of their primary functions are identified, evaluated, and properly managed.:

Question 2a:an appropriate financial and organisational separation between the activities of C4C that relate to the carrying out of their ?primary functions? and their "other activities", and:

Question 2b: an appropriate degree of transparency in financial and other reporting where resources are shared between separated activities or where there is some other financial or practical connection between otherwise separated activities.:

Question 3: If you not consider the Proposed Arrangements will meet the Schedule 9 Requirements to any extent, please explain why and how you believe the Proposed Arrangements may be strengthened?:
