

Question 1:Do you agree that Ofcom should grant approval to Royal Mail for the Delivery to Neighbour service? If not please explain your answer. :

No. I am ill and disabled (in fact I wouldn't be surprised if this idea is in breach of the disability discrimination act and human rights act - this whole idea assumes that everyone is healthy and able bodied) , I very rarely leave my house, I neither want postmen hammering at my door to take in parcels for other people nor do I want to leave my house to go and look for my parcels that were left with neighbours (some of whom are untrustworthy) and struggle to carry them back.

I also don't want the embarrassment of having to put a sticker on my door stating I do not want to take parcels in for neighbours or they for me.

Question 2:Are there other consequences following the roll out of the service across the UK that we have not included in our assessment? If so, please explain.:

Maybe that Britain isn't a perfect place with perfect neighbours. Would you want your parcels given to thieves, druggies and thugs?

Also as stated - I wouldn't be surprised if this idea is in breach of the disability discrimination act and human rights act - this whole idea assumes that everyone is healthy and able bodied - I for one wouldn't hesitate to contact the equality and human rights commission. I am sick of disabled people not being considered.

Question 3:Do you have any comments on the scope and wording of the proposed Notification and approval:

No
