

Hello.

I am an Action for the Blind connector and wish to respond to respond regarding on screen TV guides.

I am totally blind and can't access any on screen information. My husband has to tell me what is on. Also, I cannot record anything. This is very frustrating. I know there is an app for the Iphone which enables you to do these tasks, but I am not confident enough to try .

We have the Sky Talk box which tells me which station I am on and the current programme being shown, but that's all.

The RNIB sold a talking TVonics box for a short time, but they are no longer being manufactured.

Hope this helps.
