

Dear Sir

I believe Wimbledon should be retained on free to air television (BBC) due to fact that B SkyB have dominated many other sports. The BBC shows mostly repeats and lifestyle programming in Daytime and 8 hours of live tennis per day over the 2 week championships would allow free to air viewers something to savour., and may be Andy Murray winning as he did in 2013.

As with Six nations rugby the assumption is that Eurosport will cost share the rights, although are B SkyB but have provided pictures for the recent swimming championships and other sports to BBC. This deal has co-existed for many years.

Therefore I recommend BBC and Eurosport are given coverage of Wimbledon 2016

Yours Sincerely

Ian Wallace
