

Additional comments:

I understand that the consultation ends on 12 September, yet I did not receive notification of this planned change until Friday 31st August, via a leaflet delivered through my letterbox.

This is a very short period to respond. Surely consultation should be at least 90 days?

Question 1: Do you agree that Ofcom should grant approval to Royal Mail for the Delivery to Neighbour service? If not please explain your answer. :

I do not agree. The Royal Mail is contracted to deliver mail to my address, not to neighbours' addresses.

I am happy with the current arrangements and prefer to pick-up large parcels etc. from my local Post Office, whom provide an excellent service in this regard.

Question 2: Are there other consequences following the roll out of the service across the UK that we have not included in our assessment? If so, please explain.:

If I were to take delivery of an item for a neighbour, but then had to go away at short notice before the item had been collected, what are the legal implications regarding the neighbours' right to their mail?

If there is a dispute with a neighbour regarding failure to deliver/collect etc, what are the responsibilities of the Royal Mail to resolve the situation?

Question 3: Do you have any comments on the scope and wording of the proposed Notification and approval:

I object to having to display a sticker in a prominent position on my property declaring I have opted-out of this ill thought through scheme. Surely there must be a better, more discreet solution?
