Question 1:Do you agree that Ofcom should grant approval to Royal Mail for the Delivery to Neighbour service? If not please explain your answer.:

No.Although I am a homeowner

I live on a mixed tenure social housing estate of mainly flats, which by its very nature has a large turnover of incoming and outgoing residents. We would not know at any given point whether some neighbours could be trusted with our mail.

At present our particular bank is transeferring, and new cards are being issued, these are not sent recorded and we do not know when these cards are being replaced, we have only been told sometime later this year.

I would not wish my bank statements, bills or credit and debit cards and pin numbers especially, to be posted to anyone other myself.

Question 2:Are there other consequences following the roll out of the service across the UK that we have not included in our assessment? If so, please explain.:

how would we know how many items of mail were being posted in one drop on a particular day. What if Bank pins were opened by our neighbours by mistake?

Question 3:Do you have any comments on the scope and wording of the proposed Notification and approval
