

“NATS welcomes the opportunity to comment on this consultation and was grateful for Ofcom’s separate confirmation of the licences that are considered to be under the aeronautical light category. NATS notes that the consultation document is silent regarding the licence classes covering aeronautical navigation aids and aeronautical radar systems (and similar maritime classes). NATS had understood the fees for these classes to also be cost based and it may be that there is no significant misalignment between WT Act fees and costs as might be inferred from section 3.21 and the absence of other reference to these classes but it would be helpful if Ofcom would please explicitly confirm the intentions for any review of the basis for the fees for the licence classes that cover aeronautical navigation aids and aeronautical radar.”