

Question 1:Do you agree that Ofcom should grant approval to Royal Mail for the Delivery to Neighbour service? If not please explain your answer. :

Approval should NOT be granted.

The design of the opt-out is dangerously flawed.

Those who do not cooperate with the scheme will be required to put a sticker on their doors to tell their neighbours they do not want to take deliveries for them.

Fear of censure or reprisal will unfairly put pressure on the elderly and disabled into agreeing to do the Royal Mail's deliveries for them.

There must be a redesign of the opt-out option. It must be consequence-free and anonymous.

Question 2:Are there other consequences following the roll out of the service across the UK that we have not included in our assessment? If so, please explain.:

Any benefits of the scheme will be nullified by the inevitable assaults on people and property that result from the display of 'antisocial' door stickers on hundreds of thousands of homes.

Question 3:Do you have any comments on the scope and wording of the proposed Notification and approval:
