

Procedures for enforcement of requirements in the BBC Agreement and compliance with Ofcom enforcement action

Statement

Publication date:

29 March 2017

About this document

The role of the BBC is to produce high quality and distinctive programmes and services which educate, inform and entertain. Given its status as a large, publicly-funded organisation, it is essential that the BBC maintains the highest standards and can be held to account when it fails to meet them.

Under the new Royal Charter and Agreement, regulation of the BBC will pass from the BBC Trust to Ofcom. As part of its new responsibilities Ofcom must establish procedures which ensure the BBC's compliance with requirements set out in the Charter and Agreement.

On 23 January 2017, Ofcom published a consultation on proposed Procedures for enforcement of requirements in the BBC Agreement and compliance with Ofcom enforcement action.

This document summarises the comments we received on our proposed Procedures, our responses to those comments, and amendments we have made to the Procedures as a result.

We are publishing alongside this document the final version of these Procedures, which will come into effect when Ofcom takes over responsibility for regulating the BBC on the 3 April 2017.

Section 1

Executive Summary

Background

- 1.1 On 15 December 2016, the Government published the new BBC Charter<sup>1</sup> and Agreement<sup>2</sup> setting out how the BBC will be governed and regulated over the next 11 years. Regulation of the BBC will pass from the BBC Trust to Ofcom and governance of the BBC will pass to a new BBC Board.
- 1.2 Ofcom is the independent regulator for the UK communications industries, and will take on its new responsibilities for regulation of the BBC on 3 April 2017. In doing so, Ofcom will have regard to its general duties under the Communications Act 2003 and to the specific requirements of the Charter and Agreement. We must also have regard to the object of the BBC to fulfil its Mission and promote the Public Purposes, and the requirement for the BBC to comply with its duties under the Charter.<sup>3</sup>
- 1.3 Ofcom will regulate the BBC in accordance with the terms of the new Charter and the Agreement. As part of this, we have been developing a range of documents forming an Operating Framework containing the provisions we consider appropriate to secure the effective regulation of the BBC.<sup>4</sup>

Enforcement of the specified requirements

- 1.4 As set out in the Charter and Agreement, Ofcom must enforce compliance by the BBC with requirements specified as enforceable in the Agreement or Operating Framework (the “specified requirements”).
- 1.5 If Ofcom is satisfied that the BBC has breached a specified requirement, then we may:
  - direct the BBC, or accept undertakings from the BBC, to take such steps we consider will remedy the failure to comply and/or ensure that the BBC complies with its requirements properly in future;<sup>5</sup> and/or
  - require the BBC to pay a specified penalty.<sup>6</sup>
- 1.6 In enforcing compliance by the BBC of the specified requirements, Ofcom may consider complaints, and we may carry out investigations into such compliance as we consider appropriate.<sup>7</sup>

Procedures for enforcement of the specified requirements

- 1.7 The Charter and Agreement state that Ofcom must set out procedures for the handling and resolution of complaints, for conducting investigations and for the imposition of sanctions in relation to breaches of the specified requirements.<sup>8</sup> These procedures will form part of the Operating Framework.
- 1.8 As regards procedures for the handling and resolution of complaints, the Agreement provides that Ofcom must set and publish procedures which cover the handling and resolution of complaints which are referred to us in the following circumstances:
- a) If a complainant is not satisfied with the resolution of the complaint by the BBC
  - b) If a complainant considers, following the resolution of a complaint by the BBC, that the imposition by Ofcom of a sanction against the BBC may be appropriate
  - c) If the BBC has failed to resolve a complaint within the timeframe set in its complaints handling procedures.<sup>9</sup>
- 1.9 The Agreement provides that Ofcom's complaints handling procedures must give information on how complainants can expect to be treated. To this end, the procedures must ensure that making a complaint is straightforward and accessible, and that the public know about their right to make a complaint and how. In addition, the procedures must ensure that complaints are handled in a timely and proportionate manner, and considered and resolved effectively.<sup>10</sup>
- 1.10 In this regard, the Agreement states that Ofcom's procedures must clearly explain:
- a) how the complaints system works;
  - b) the remedies and sanctions Ofcom has the power to apply;
  - c) where relevant, the availability of other methods of redress in relation to the type of issues raised by the complainant; and
  - d) how complainants will be notified of the resolution of the complaint and provided with an explanation appropriate to the nature of the complaint.<sup>11</sup>
- 1.11 As regards investigations, the Agreement provides that Ofcom may carry out such investigations as we consider appropriate to determine compliance with a specified requirement, and that we must set and publish procedures for the carrying out of such investigations.<sup>12</sup>
- 1.12 As regards the imposition of sanctions, as set out in paragraph 1.5 above, the Charter sets out the sanctions that Ofcom may impose if we are satisfied that the BBC has failed to comply with a specified requirement. The Charter also provides that we may not impose these sanctions unless we have given the BBC a reasonable

The consultation

- 1.13 On 23 January 2017, Ofcom published a consultation on its proposed Procedures for enforcement of requirements in the BBC Agreement and compliance with Ofcom enforcement action (the "consultation").
- 1.14 We also published consultations on the following sets of proposed procedures (together, the "Specific Procedures"):
- a) Procedures for handling content standards complaints, investigations and sanctions for BBC programmes; and
  - b) Procedures for enforcement of BBC competition requirements.
- 1.15 The Procedures which are the subject of the consultation and this statement explain how we would investigate:
- a) breaches by the BBC of other requirements set out in the Agreement which are not covered by the Specific Procedures; and
  - b) a failure by the BBC to comply with enforcement action by Ofcom in accordance with the Specific Procedures or these Procedures. This could occur where the BBC fails to comply with a direction made by Ofcom, or an undertaking given by the BBC, under Article 29(2) of the Charter.

Responses to the consultation

- 1.16 Ofcom received five responses to the consultation. These were from the BBC, ITV, Pact, Sky and UK Music.
- 1.17 We have considered all responses in finalising our Procedures and have published non-confidential versions on our website.
- 1.18 Respondents made general comments regarding our approach to enforcement of regulation applied to the BBC, as well as specific comments on the proposed Procedures. Overall, respondents agreed with Ofcom's approach to enforcement, but requested clarification on some aspects of the proposed Procedures, and proposed some amendments.

Next steps

- 1.19 In this statement, we summarise the responses to the consultation and set out our conclusions, including amendments we have made to the Procedures as a result. In addition, we have made amendments to bring the Procedures in line with our enforcement procedures for other broadcasters. We have also made a small number of relatively minor stylistic amendments.
- 1.20 We have published our final Procedures alongside this statement. These Procedures form part of the Operating Framework for the BBC and take effect on 3 April 2017.

- 1.21 Separately, on 23 January 2017, we published consultations on our draft Procedures for handling content standards complaints, investigations and sanctions for BBC programmes and Procedures for handling content standards and licensing investigations and sanctions for other broadcasters and on demand programme service providers regulated by Ofcom. Statements summarising responses to those consultations, alongside finalised procedures, have also been published today on our website.
- 1.22 Finally, on 23 January 2017, we also published a consultation on our proposed Procedures for enforcement of BBC competition requirements. We will publish a statement summarising responses to that consultation, alongside our finalised procedures, in due course.

Section 2

Consultation responses and Ofcom's conclusions

- 2.1 Ofcom received five responses to the consultation. These were from the BBC, ITV, Pact, Sky and UK Music.
- 2.2 This section summarises the proposals to which respondents raised issues, a summary of those issues and Ofcom's responses, including changes we have made to the Procedures.
- 2.3 The final Procedures have been published today on our website<sup>14</sup> and are also available at Annex 1 of this statement.

Complaints and the 'BBC first' principle

'BBC first'

- 2.4 The Charter and Agreement provide for a 'BBC first' principle, which means a complaint should normally in the first instance be resolved by the BBC. If a complainant is not satisfied with the BBC's final response or considers the imposition by Ofcom of a sanction may be appropriate, or if the BBC has failed to respond within the timeframe set in its own procedures, a complainant may refer their complaint to Ofcom. However, in exceptional circumstances, Ofcom may intervene at an earlier stage to handle and resolve a complaint which has not been resolved by the BBC.<sup>15</sup>
- 2.5 ITV raised concerns about the 'BBC first' principle. It said that it could not be right for Ofcom to suggest that it might not perform its role fully if stakeholders have not, regardless of the reason, engaged on a particular issue with an organisation that might be its closest commercial rival or key customer. It considered that there might be good commercial or relationship reasons why it would not be comfortable taking up certain issues with the BBC instead of Ofcom, or there might be circumstances where objections could only be evidenced with commercially sensitive information.
- 2.6 In response, we note that, as explained above, the Charter and the Agreement provide for a 'BBC first' principle and specify that Ofcom may deal with complaints in the first instance in exceptional circumstances. Ofcom is required to follow this process and we consider it is appropriate for us to reflect this in our Procedures.
- 2.7 However, Ofcom acknowledges that some stakeholders and competitors may not wish to refer their complaint to the BBC for commercial or other related reasons. In recognition of this, Ofcom stated in the draft Procedures that if a complainant has not referred its complaint to the BBC in the first instance, it should set out in its complaint submission why it considers there are exceptional circumstances for it not doing so. Ofcom can step in if it considers the circumstances are exceptional. We will therefore consider, based on the complainant's submissions and all the circumstances of the case, whether it is appropriate for us to handle the complaint. This wording has been retained in the final Procedures.

Timeframe for making a complaint

- 2.8 The Agreement requires our procedures to provide for the consideration of complaints where the BBC has failed to resolve a matter within the time period set in its own complaints handling procedures.<sup>16</sup> This time period was referred to in the proposed Procedures as the “BBC deadline”.<sup>17</sup>
- 2.9 In response to the consultation, the BBC explained that the timescales in its complaints handling procedures will be indicative and that a complainant would be notified of the expected timeframe for their complaint. The BBC suggested that Ofcom adopt less restrictive wording and that Ofcom set the operation of its time limit by reference to where the BBC has failed to respond within the target date set in accordance with its own procedures.
- 2.10 Ofcom accepts that there will, in some circumstances, be investigations which take longer than the planned timescales and it would not be in Ofcom’s, the BBC’s or the complainant’s interests for us to begin an investigation afresh where this is the case. However, it is an important aspect of the ‘BBC first’ principle that complainants can refer their complaint to Ofcom if it has not been resolved or concluded within a set period. As such, Ofcom has retained in the final Procedures the two-month window for referring a complaint to Ofcom following the BBC’s stated deadline.

Information to be provided with a complaint

- 2.11 In the draft Procedures, we stated that complaints should supply Ofcom with sufficient detail about the subject matter of the complaint to enable Ofcom to investigate fully, together with the BBC’s final response to the complaint.
- 2.12 The BBC considered the Procedures should require complaints to indicate whether the complainant was providing Ofcom with any new evidence which has not been put before the BBC and, if so, to explain why the evidence had not been provided to the BBC in the first instance. The BBC considered this would ensure that it could address relevant evidence at the earliest opportunity and minimise the risk of the process being unnecessarily prolonged by evidence being introduced only when a complaint was referred to Ofcom.
- 2.13 We acknowledge that the BBC will need to address relevant evidence when it considers any complaint, and that it would want to ensure it is provided with all relevant evidence at the earliest opportunity. However, we do not consider asking complainants in our Procedures to identify any new evidence which had not been placed before the BBC would serve to achieve this goal. It is open for the BBC, in its complaints handling procedures, to set out the evidence it requires complainants to provide. Complainants making a complaint to the BBC in the first instance are likely to consider the BBC’s procedures when doing so, and may only consider Ofcom’s Procedures should they decide to refer the complaint to Ofcom.

Timescales

- 2.14 In our draft Procedures we stated that we would usually aim to complete:
- 2.14.1 an initial assessment of complaints within 15 working days;
  - 2.14.2 cases we take forward for investigation within 50 working days; and
  - 2.14.3 our consideration of the imposition of a sanction within 60 working days.
- 2.15 The BBC considered it would be reasonable for Ofcom to give a commitment to aim to complete investigations as quickly as possible. The BBC also suggested that Ofcom should generally inform the BBC of the expected length of an investigation and keep it updated on progress.
- 2.16 Ofcom recognises that it is important that we complete investigations as soon as possible, and handle complaints in a timely way. We will always endeavour to do so. In order to provide clarity, we have retained our target timescales in our final Procedures. Where it is possible to resolve the issues raised within an earlier timescale, we will do so.

Engagement with the BBC

- 2.17 In our draft Procedures, we identified points in our investigations when we would seek information or representations from the BBC. Our draft Procedures also provided that we may provide the BBC with the opportunity to make oral representations on our Preliminary View and that we would indicate to the BBC in the case opening letter whether we considered this to be appropriate.
- 2.18 The BBC said would be helpful to understand when Ofcom would deem it appropriate for the BBC to make oral representations. It also said it would like the opportunity, where possible, to make representations about how an early resolution might be reached in order to save time and expense for Ofcom and complainants.
- 2.19 We recognise there may be cases where an oral hearing would be appropriate. Consequently, we explained in the draft Procedures that we would consider such requests on a case by case basis, taking account of the nature of the breach and the complexity of the issues raised. We also explained that the BBC will be provided with the opportunity to make written representations on our Preliminary View. This is consistent with our enforcement procedures for other broadcasters and we have therefore retained this wording in our final Procedures.
- 2.20 For consistency with our procedures for other broadcasters, we explain in our final Procedures that we will inform the BBC if we consider it would be appropriate to offer it the opportunity to make oral representations on the Preliminary View. We will endeavour to inform the BBC at the earliest possible opportunity but, depending on the circumstances, this may not be before we have issued the Preliminary View. We have also clarified in our final Procedures that any oral hearing at this stage would be chaired by the final decision maker, consistent with our procedures for other broadcasters.

The complainant's role

- 2.21 Sky considered that complainants should be given the opportunity to comment (in addition to the BBC and relevant third parties) where Ofcom proposed to depart from the Procedures. Pact considered that: complainants should be given the opportunity to comment on Ofcom's Preliminary View; there should be scope for complainants to request oral hearings; and we should provide the complainant with a copy of the final breach and final sanctions decisions before publication.

- 2.22 Ofcom recognises the role of a complainant is important as they may bring to our attention a possible failure of the BBC to comply with the specified requirements. Ofcom will assess, and investigate, where necessary a complaint based on the issues raised and complainants will have the opportunity to put forward their submissions when making a complaint. Furthermore, it is important to note that these Procedures cover investigations into the BBC's compliance with its regulatory obligations, not regulatory disputes between a complainant and the BBC. As such we consider the scope of the complainant's role, as retained and set out in the final Procedures, is appropriate and proportionate in the circumstances, and does not result in unfairness to the complainant.

Sanctions

Ofcom's discretion to impose sanctions

- 2.23 Under the Charter, if Ofcom is satisfied that the BBC has failed to comply with a specified requirement, we may impose a sanction on the BBC. Specifically, we may impose a penalty on the BBC, or direct it or accept undertakings from it to take such steps as we consider will remedy the failure to comply or ensure that the BBC complies with its requirements properly in the future.<sup>18</sup>
- 2.24 The BBC said that Ofcom should provide a clearer indication of the circumstances in which it would consider it appropriate to impose a sanction on the BBC for breach of a specified requirement where the BBC has already reached an appropriate decision. It considered that Ofcom should, for example, take account of any remedial action taken by the BBC before deciding whether sanctions are appropriate. The BBC argued that financial sanctions should be treated as a last resort, reserved for the most serious or repeated breaches.
- 2.25 In response, we note that the Charter gives Ofcom discretion to impose certain sanctions on the BBC for breaches of specified requirements. Ofcom recognises that the imposition of a sanction on the BBC is a serious matter. Therefore, we expect that we would impose sanctions, particularly financial penalties, for the most serious of breaches, or if we considered the BBC had deliberately, repeatedly or recklessly breached a specified requirement.
- 2.26 We have therefore explained in our final Procedures that we may impose a sanction if we consider the BBC has "seriously, deliberately, repeatedly or recklessly" breached a specified requirement covered by the Procedures. This is consistent with Ofcom's approach to sanctions for all other broadcasters and on demand programme service providers, and our current approach to imposing sanctions on the BBC. Whether or not a sanction is appropriate will depend upon the particular circumstances under consideration at the time.

Oral hearing

- 2.27 The Charter provides that we must not impose a sanction unless we have given the BBC a reasonable opportunity to make representations on our grounds for proposing to impose a sanction.<sup>19</sup> To reflect this, we provided in the proposed Procedures that, following our Preliminary View on sanction, we would invite the BBC to make representations. We explained that, depending on the type and level of any sanction, these may be written and/or oral representations.
- 2.28 The BBC considered that we had not provided it with the right to an oral hearing. It believed that there may be some complaints where the opportunity for an oral hearing could aid and swift and effective resolution.
- 2.29 In line with our approach to sanctions for all other broadcasters and on demand programme service providers, we have decided it is appropriate and consistent to always offer the BBC the right to make both written and oral representations following our Preliminary View on sanction. We have reflected this in our final Procedures.

Publicity

- 2.30 In order to bring our Procedures in line with the sanctions procedures for other broadcasters, we have made some changes to how we will publicise the sanctions decision. The final Procedures provide that the sanctions decision will contain a statement of reasons, and that the decision will be sent to the BBC, for information, one working day before publication.

Annex 1

Procedures for enforcement of requirements in the BBC Agreement and compliance with Ofcom enforcement action

Introduction

- A1.1 This document outlines Ofcom’s Procedures for the handling and resolution of complaints (or for the conduct of its own investigations) into possible breaches by the BBC of requirements set out in the Agreement<sup>20</sup> which are not covered by any of the specific BBC procedures set out below in paragraph A1.8.<sup>21</sup> These requirements are discussed in further detail in paragraphs A1.9 to A1.11 below.
- A1.2 The Procedures set out in this document are those Ofcom will usually follow in order to investigate whether a breach of a “relevant requirement” has occurred. The Procedures set out in this document are effective from 3 April 2017.<sup>22</sup>
- A1.3 These Procedures also cover the investigation of any failure by the BBC to comply with a direction made by Ofcom, or undertaking offered by the BBC, under Article 49(2) of the Charter<sup>23</sup> for the purposes of remedying a failure to comply with any specified requirement and/or ensuring that the BBC complies properly with its requirements in the future.
- A1.4 If Ofcom considers it necessary to depart from these Procedures in any material respect in a particular case for reasons of fairness and/or in order for Ofcom properly to consider a complaint(s) or carry out an investigation, it will write to the BBC (and any other relevant party) in advance, setting out the nature/extent of its departure and its reasons for doing so.

Statutory framework

- A1.5 Ofcom regulates the BBC by virtue of section 198 of the Communications Act 2003 (“the 2003 Act”) to the extent that provision to do so is contained in the BBC Charter and Agreement, the 2003 Act and Part 5 of the Broadcasting Act 1996.

<sup>20</sup> ‘The Agreement between the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport, and the BBC’ (the “Agreement”), available at: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/bbc-charter-and-framework-agreement>.

<sup>21</sup> Our existing General procedures for investigating breaches of broadcast licences will continue to apply to other broadcasters including commercial BBC companies licensed by Ofcom, available at https://www.ofcom.org.uk/\_data/assets/pdf\_file/0019/31942/general-procedures.pdf. Ofcom has no remit to consider complaints concerning the World Service.

<sup>22</sup> Other methods of redress may be available to complainants through the civil courts. Complainants may wish to obtain legal advice.

- A1.6 In accordance with the Charter, Ofcom must enforce compliance by the BBC with the specified requirements set out in the Agreement<sup>24</sup>. These requirements include<sup>25</sup>:
- a) any requirement imposed on the BBC by Ofcom in the Operating Framework;
  - b) any regulatory condition imposed on the BBC in the operating licence;
  - c) the various regulatory obligations set out in Schedule 3 of the Agreement (excluding the obligation on editorial guidelines<sup>26</sup>);
  - d) the requirement for the BBC to provide information to Ofcom under the Charter;<sup>27</sup> and
  - e) requirements relating to the retention, provision and publication of information relating to complaints.<sup>28</sup>
- A1.7 The Charter provides<sup>29</sup> that If Ofcom is satisfied that the BBC has failed to comply with a specified requirement, Ofcom may:
- a) direct the BBC, or accept undertakings from the BBC, to take such steps as Ofcom considers will:
    - i) remedy the failure to comply;
    - ii) ensure that the BBC complies with its requirements properly in future.
  - b) serve on the BBC a notice requiring it to pay them, within a specified period, a specified financial penalty. The maximum penalty that may be imposed on any occasion is £250,000.<sup>30</sup>

When do these Procedures apply?

- A1.8 Ofcom has produced specific procedures, which apply to investigations of potential breaches by the BBC of specified requirements under the Agreement. These specific procedures are listed in the table on the following page. A breach by the BBC of the requirements shown in the table below would generally be investigated under the corresponding specific procedure and would not be covered by these Procedures.

Procedures

A1.11 Ofcom may launch investigations on its own initiative as well as investigate complaints made by others. The Procedures in a complaint-led investigation and an Ofcom-initiated investigation are the same.

Making a complaint

- A1.12 Complaints under these Procedures can be made to Ofcom by any person or body who considers that the BBC has failed to comply with a relevant requirement.
- A1.13 Ofcom will expect a complainant to refer its complaint to the BBC in the first instance. A complainant may then make a complaint to Ofcom if:
- a) the complainant is not satisfied with the resolution of the complaint by the BBC;
  - b) the complainant considers, following the resolution of a complaint by the BBC, that the imposition by Ofcom of a sanction against the BBC may be appropriate;
  - c) the BBC has failed to resolve a complaint within the timeframe set in its complaints handling procedures<sup>55</sup>.
- A1.14 Ofcom may consider complaints which are not referred to the BBC in the first instance in exceptional circumstances.<sup>56</sup> If the complainant considers that there are exceptional circumstances for not referring a complaint to the BBC in the first instance, it should clearly explain this in its complaint submission to Ofcom. Ofcom will decide whether to consider such complaints on a case-by-case basis.
- A1.15 Ofcom has published guidance on how individuals working in the communications sector may contact us if they have concerns about possible wrongdoing at their own organisation and where they have been unable to raise or resolve those concerns internally.<sup>57</sup> Such disclosures can be made in confidence to the Secretary of the Corporation.

- A1.16 Unless a complainant asks Ofcom not to do so, Ofcom may disclose the complainant's identity to the BBC as well as sharing a non-confidential version of the complaint submission with it for comment. Ofcom will consider requests from complainants to remain anonymous. However, it may not be feasible to open or conduct an investigation without revealing the identity of the complainant. This does not apply to whistleblowers<sup>58</sup>.
- A1.17 The BBC's timeframe for resolution of complaints regarding non-compliance with a specified requirement is set out in the BBC's complaints handling procedures (referred to in these procedures as the "BBC deadline"). If the BBC reaches a final decision before the BBC deadline, we would expect the complainant to refer the complaint to Ofcom within 2 months of the date of the BBC's final decision. If the BBC does not reach a final decision or resolve the complaint before the BBC deadline, we would expect the complainant to refer the complaint to Ofcom within 2 months of the date of the BBC deadline.
- A1.18 Ofcom will consider complaints referred to it outside of these timeframes in exceptional circumstances, and will decide whether to do so on a case-by-case basis.
- A1.19 Ofcom requests that complaints are submitted via its complaint form, available at <https://ofcomforms.secure.force.com/formentry/SitesFormBBCGeneralProcedures>. Alternatively, you can contact us at: Ofcom, Riverside House, 2a Southwark Bridge Road, London SE1 9HA, or telephone 0300 123 3333 or 020 7981 3040.
- A1.20 People with sensory impairments who find it easier to do so may call our text phone on 020 7981 3043 (please note that this number only works with special equipment used by people who are deaf or hard of hearing). People with visual impairments wishing to complain may wish to use our dedicated email address: adcomplaints@ofcom.org.uk. A Video Relay Service to contact Ofcom in British Sign Language is available on Ofcom's website.

Information to be provided

- A1.21 All complaints should include sufficient detail about the matter complained of to enable Ofcom to investigate fully. All complaints should, therefore, include details about what is alleged to have been done, or not done, in relation to which BBC service (where relevant) together with the BBC's final response to the complaint (where received). A failure to provide these details may mean that Ofcom is not able to investigate the complaint. The complainant's full contact details (including email address where appropriate) should also be included.

Initial assessment

- A1.22 Ofcom may investigate the BBC's compliance with a relevant requirement following receipt of a complaint or on its own-initiative (for example, where information comes to Ofcom's attention during routine monitoring). When deciding whether to open an investigation, Ofcom will consider whether, on its face, there are potentially substantive issues in relation to a relevant requirement that warrant investigation by Ofcom. It will do so by reference to the gravity and/or extent of the matter at issue. In addition, if Ofcom considers that the BBC has reached an appropriate decision, it will consider whether the imposition by Ofcom of a sanction against the BBC may be appropriate in accordance with the procedures set out in paragraphs A1.49ff.

<sup>57</sup> See Procedure for making a disclosure to Ofcom under the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998 ('PIDA') at <https://www.ofcom.org.uk/about-ofcom/policies-and-guidelines>.

<sup>58</sup> Ofcom is a "prescribed person" under Part IVA of the Employment Rights Act 1996 (as inserted by PIDA) to which "qualifying disclosures" can be made about certain matters, including broadcasting and the provision of television and radio services.

- A1.23 Ofcom may ask the BBC for information to assist our consideration of the matter(s), and/or – in cases relating to the output of a broadcast service or on-demand service – recordings of the relevant output/programme(s), which must be provided within five working days<sup>59</sup>. At this stage we will not normally request that the BBC provides written representations.
- A1.24 Based on an initial assessment of the issues, the BBC's final response to the complaint under its own procedures (where applicable), and any other relevant material/evidence from the BBC, Ofcom will consider whether there may have been a breach of a relevant requirement(s) that Ofcom considers requires further investigation.
- A1.25 Where, following the initial assessment, Ofcom decides not to investigate further, Ofcom will normally notify the complainant of its decision. If Ofcom has contacted the BBC for information or recordings to assist in the assessment of the issue or complaint, Ofcom will notify the BBC of its decision not to pursue the matter. Ofcom will also normally publish details of its decision not to investigate in a table in its Broadcast and On Demand Bulletin. However, there may be some cases where Ofcom considers it would be inappropriate to publicise the matter, for example because the issues raised are particularly sensitive and/or publicity could have a detrimental impact on third parties (although there may be exceptional cases where we do publish in such circumstances, such as where there is a high level of public interest in the matter complained of).
- A1.26 Ofcom may also conclude at the assessment stage that a complaint did raise a potentially substantive issue in relation to a relevant requirement(s) but that on Ofcom's assessment, the issue was appropriately dealt with by the BBC and does not require a separate investigation by Ofcom. Ofcom will notify the complainant of this outcome through publication in the Broadcast and On Demand Bulletin.
- A1.27 Ofcom usually aims to complete its initial assessment within 15 working days.

Investigating possible breaches and preparation of Ofcom's Preliminary View

- A1.28 Where, following Ofcom's initial assessment, Ofcom decides to open an investigation into the BBC's compliance with a particular relevant requirement, Ofcom will generally inform the BBC and any complainant by sending them each a case opening letter explaining the scope of Ofcom's investigation (i.e. the particular relevant requirement(s) which Ofcom considers are relevant and applicable to the complaint(s) or matters concerned.
- A1.29 Shortly after sending the case opening letter(s), Ofcom will normally publish details of issues under investigation in a table in its Broadcast and On Demand Bulletin. However, there may be some cases where Ofcom considers that it would be inappropriate to publicise the matter at this stage, for example because the issues raised are particularly sensitive and/or publicity could have a detrimental impact on third parties (although there may be exceptional cases where we do publish in such circumstances, such as where there is a high level of public interest in the matter complained of). In such cases, Ofcom may delay publicising the investigation until after Ofcom has completed its consideration of the BBC's compliance with a relevant requirement or may decide not to publicise such cases at all.

<sup>59</sup> Under the Agreement, the BBC must comply with any request to produce recordings of programmes and any related material to Ofcom.

- A1.30 Other than in cases falling within paragraph A1.32 below, when Ofcom sends the BBC the case opening letter, Ofcom will invite the BBC to make representations in response (and to provide any relevant material/evidence in support) within 10 working days.
- A1.31 If in any case Ofcom considers that it is necessary to obtain further information to ensure that it can fairly and properly prepare its Preliminary View, Ofcom may seek such information before preparing that Preliminary View.
- A1.32 There may be specific cases where the matter(s) in issue, on the facts, mean that Ofcom does not consider it necessary to seek representations or any further information from the BBC at this stage. This will normally be where the question of whether there is a breach of a relevant requirement is a matter of objective fact. There may also be other specific cases where the matter(s) in issue, on the facts, mean this approach is appropriate. In these cases, Ofcom will not usually seek the BBC's representations at this stage. Instead, Ofcom will write to the BBC with its Preliminary View on the substance of the matter(s).
- A1.33 Ofcom aims to complete those cases that it takes forward for investigation usually within 50 working days.

Representations from third parties

Ofcom recognises that there may be persons/bodies who may be directly affected by the outcome of Ofcom's investigation and determination of a complaint(s) and who may have interests independent of the BBC. Wherever possible, the BBC should seek to take account of and include the representations of such persons/bodies in its submissions in response to a complaint and confirm to Ofcom that it has done so.

However, such persons/bodies may make representations on their own behalf direct to Ofcom in respect of a complaint which Ofcom proceeds to investigate. In such a case, persons/bodies should seek to make representations to Ofcom as early in an investigation of a complaint as possible, setting out if/to what extent their representations differ from those of the BBC. Ofcom will, as appropriate, take those representations into account and include those persons/bodies in its decision-making process under these Procedures.

Preparation of Ofcom's Preliminary View

- A1.34 Ofcom will prepare its Preliminary View on the substance of the possible breach of the relevant requirement(s). This Preliminary View is only provisional and may be subject to change in the light of subsequent representations provided by the BBC.

- A1.35 Where Ofcom considers in a particular case that it would be appropriate in order to reach its Preliminary View, Ofcom will provide a draft Preliminary View to a panel of Ofcom's Content Board members<sup>60</sup> for their advisory opinion. The decision to issue a Preliminary View will be taken by a senior member of Ofcom's Executive with appropriate Board-delegated authority. Typically, this would be the person who is responsible for overseeing the investigation.
- A1.36 The Preliminary View will contain:
- a) a summary of the matter, and if relevant, any complaint;
  - b) a summary, if relevant, of the material parts of the programme/broadcast to which the matter and/or any complaint(s) relates;
  - c) the particular relevant requirements that Ofcom considers are applicable to the matter/complaint(s); and
  - d) Ofcom's preliminary assessment of whether any breach(es) of those requirements have occurred and the reasons for that assessment.
- A1.37 When Ofcom has prepared its Preliminary View, Ofcom will provide it to the BBC (and any relevant third party).
- A1.38 The BBC (and any relevant third party) will have the opportunity to make written representations on Ofcom's Preliminary View. The period for written representations will normally be 10 working days.
- A1.39 Ofcom considers that it will normally be able to reach its final Decision fairly and properly following written representations and without oral representations from the BBC. However, there may be some cases where, in view of the nature of the breach under consideration and the complexity of the issues raised, Ofcom considers it appropriate to give the BBC the opportunity to make its representations orally to Ofcom, following the submission of any written representations to Ofcom.<sup>61</sup> Ofcom will inform the BBC if it considers that it is appropriate to it the opportunity to make oral representations in a particular case.
- A1.40 In any event, the BBC may, in any particular case, make a written request to make its representations orally to Ofcom in addition to any written representations. Ofcom will agree to such a request if Ofcom considers that an oral hearing is appropriate in view of the nature of the breach under consideration and the complexity of the issues raised.

The Final Decision

- A1.41 Once Ofcom has received and considered the BBC's representations on its Preliminary View (if any) and/or any representations from a relevant third party, it will reach its final decision (i.e. whether or not to record a breach of a relevant requirement(s)) ("the Decision").
- A1.42 Where a panel of Content Board members has reviewed in the draft Preliminary View in a particular case, generally the draft decision in that case would be provided to a panel of Ofcom's Content Board members (who have not been involved in the investigation) for their advisory opinion before a final decision is taken.

- A1.43 The final decision will be taken by a senior member of Ofcom's Executive with appropriate Board-delegated authority, who will not have been involved in the investigation and/or the preparation of the Preliminary View.

Publication of the Decision

- A1.44 Where Ofcom has found that the BBC has breached a relevant requirement(s), Ofcom will publish its Decision in Ofcom's Broadcast and On Demand Bulletin<sup>62</sup> and/or in the relevant broadcast licensing section of the website. Ofcom will normally publish all breach and resolved Decisions, even where Ofcom has not previously publicised details of the matters under investigation in accordance with paragraph A1.29 above.
- A1.45 Ofcom will provide the BBC for information only with an embargoed copy of the Decision one working day before publication.
- A1.46 Ofcom will also normally publish information in its Broadcast and On Demand Bulletin about Decisions in which it has found that the BBC has not breached a relevant requirement. However, where Ofcom has not published details of an issue under investigation, Ofcom would not normally publish a "not in breach" decision at the conclusion of the investigation.

Non-Disclosure

- A1.47 It is an essential part of the integrity of Ofcom's processes and its ability to regulate that all parties concerned abide by Ofcom's published rules and procedures, including those relating to non-disclosure below.

Non-Disclosure

Parties (complainants, the BBC, Ofcom and any directly affected third parties) may, unless otherwise indicated, make public the fact that a complaint has been made or that Ofcom is investigating a case. They may also use any information which is already in the public domain.

However, parties should not disclose any correspondence, documents or other material concerning the complaint during the course of the investigation.<sup>63</sup>

Failure to follow this requirement may result in Ofcom ceasing to consider the party's representations.

This does not limit what Ofcom can publish in its decision at the end of the investigation.<sup>64</sup>

<sup>63</sup> Ofcom is obliged to meet various statutory obligations relating to the disclosure of information (for example, under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the Environmental Information regulations 2004). Information provided to Ofcom as part of a complaint may need to be disclosed by Ofcom in order to meet such obligations.

<sup>64</sup> Ofcom may (in investigating and publishing its decision) withhold material it believes to be confidential, market sensitive or legally privileged or that it is under some other legal obligation to

Time limits

- A1.48 Complainants and the BBC should keep to the time limits specified in these Procedures. However, Ofcom may consider it appropriate (in the interests of fairness and/or properly to carry out an investigation) to amend or adapt the time limits set out above in a particular case. Any party seeking an extension to a time limit should explain in writing to Ofcom why it believes it is appropriate.

Sanctions

- A1.49 In accordance with the Charter, Ofcom may impose a financial penalty on the BBC<sup>65</sup>, and direct the BBC or accept undertakings from the BBC to take such steps we consider will remedy the failure to comply and/ or ensure the BBC complied with its requirements properly in the future. Ofcom will not impose a sanction on the BBC unless it has given the BBC a reasonable opportunity of making representations about the matters appearing to Ofcom to provide grounds for the imposition of the sanction.
- A1.50 Accordingly, where Ofcom determines that there has been a breach (or breaches) of a relevant requirement, Ofcom may determine that it justifies consideration of a sanction against the BBC. Ofcom will make such a determination clear in its Decision and the Procedures set out below will normally apply.
- A1.51 The imposition of a sanction is a serious matter. Ofcom may, following due process, impose a sanction if it considers that the BBC has seriously, deliberately, repeatedly<sup>66</sup> or recklessly breached a relevant requirement.

Decision making

- A1.52 Decisions on sanction under these Procedures will be made (and where relevant, Preliminary Views taken) by one or two (depending on the nature of the breach) senior members of the Ofcom Executive who have been given appropriate delegated authority by the Ofcom Board, one of whom will be the final decision maker on the breach of a relevant requirement.
- A1.53 A decision maker in a sanctions case will not have been involved in the investigation of the breach of the relevant requirement, up to and including the preparation of the Preliminary View on the breach.
- A1.54 When Ofcom writes to the broadcaster in accordance with paragraph A1.56 below, it will identify the decision maker(s).

Consideration of sanctions

- A1.55 The consideration of a sanction follows a decision by Ofcom that the BBC has breached a relevant requirement. A case will normally be considered for the protect from disclosure. In such cases, the BBC will be notified that relevant material has been withheld and the reasons why.

<sup>65</sup> The amount of any penalty that may be imposed must not exceed the maximum amount specified in section 198(5) of the Communications Act 2003 i.e. £250,000.

<sup>66</sup> A repeated breach of a relevant requirement, would include, for example: a repeat of the breach of the same requirement as has already been recorded; repetition of the same or similar conduct as that which earlier contravened a requirement; or multiple breaches of other requirements.

imposition of a sanction when Ofcom considers that the BBC has seriously, deliberately, repeatedly or recklessly breached a relevant requirement.

A1.56 Ofcom aims to conclude the consideration of the imposition of a sanction within 60 working days from the date Ofcom records the breach(es) of a relevant requirement(s). However, the circumstances of individual cases can vary considerable and completion may in some cases take longer.

A1.57 If Ofcom consider that a sanction may be appropriate, it will write to the BBC with the following information, as appropriate:

- a) details of the breach(es);
- b) comments on any issue raised by the BBC that is material to the case;
- c) details of any relevant BBC cases on which Ofcom has already adjudicated;
- d) details of the BBC's recent compliance history;
- e) details of Ofcom's Preliminary View that a sanction may be appropriate;
- f) details of Ofcom's Preliminary View on the type and level of any sanction considered to be appropriate and proportionate;
- g) a summary of the material on which it has relied in reaching its Preliminary View; and
- h) a copy of the relevant documentation<sup>67</sup> that Ofcom has taken into account.

A1.58 Where, at this stage, Ofcom's Preliminary View is that the appropriate sanction should include a financial penalty, it will, as appropriate, consider the penalty in accordance with the Penalty Guidelines published by Ofcom at: https://www.ofcom.org.uk/data/assets/pdf\_file/0032/49685/penalty\_guidelines\_2015.pdf.

BBC representations

A1.59 Ofcom will provide the BBC with an opportunity to make representations on Ofcom's Preliminary View that a sanction may be appropriate.

Written representations

A1.60 The BBC will have the opportunity to make written representations on Ofcom's Preliminary View that a sanction may be appropriate and on the type and level of any sanction being considered. The period for written representations will be 15 working days, unless otherwise specified. In some circumstances, Ofcom may, if it considers appropriate, seek further information or representations from the BBC.<sup>68</sup>

<sup>67</sup> Ofcom may withhold material it believes to be confidential, market sensitive or legally privileged or that it is under some other legal obligation to protect from disclosure. In such cases, the BBC will be notified that relevant material has been withheld and the reasons why.

<sup>68</sup> Under Article 47 of the BBC Charter, Ofcom may require the BBC and any other person to provide information for the purposes of the carrying out by Ofcom of their functions.

Oral representations

- A1.61 In addition Ofcom will offer the BBC the opportunity to attend an oral hearing to make representations on the matters referred to in Ofcom's Preliminary View. Ofcom will normally give the BBC at least 15 working days' notice of the date for making such representations. The hearing of oral representations will be in private and may take place in any UK nation, as appropriate. The hearing will be transcribed and the transcript will be provided to the BBC. The BBC may bring legal advisers to the oral hearing to assist in preparing its oral representations, although Ofcom may ask that the BBC limited the number of persons attending the oral hearing on its behalf to a reasonable number.
- A1.62 The procedure for making oral representations will be at the discretion of Ofcom. Ofcom will write to the BBC in advance of the date of the hearing, to set out the procedure to be followed on the day.

Disposal

- A1.63 After consideration of written and/or oral representations from the BBC, Ofcom may decide that no sanction is appropriate in a particular case. Where this is the case, the BBC will then receive written notification to this effect.

Sanctions decision

- A1.64 If, after considering all the evidence and representations from the BBC, Ofcom believes that a sanction is appropriate, it shall consider and decide which of the available sanctions is appropriate and reach a decision to that effect. If Ofcom decides that the sanction should include a financial penalty, it will, as appropriate, have regard to the Ofcom Penalty Guidelines published at: https://www.ofcom.org.uk/data/assets/pdf\_file/0032/49685/penalty\_guidelines\_2015.pdf.

Publication of Sanction Decision

- A1.65 The Sanction Decision, with a statement of reasons, will be sent to the BBC one working day before its publication.
- A1.66 Ofcom will publish its decision on its website. A summary of the Sanction Decision will normally be published in Ofcom's Broadcast and On Demand Bulletin at: <http://stakeholders.ofcom.org.uk/enforcement/broadcast-bulletins/>.

Non Disclosure

- A1.67 It is essential to the integrity of Ofcom's processes and its ability to regulate fairly that all parties abide by Ofcom's published rules and procedures, including those relating to non disclosure below<sup>69</sup>.

<sup>69</sup> Ofcom is obliged to meet various statutory obligations relating to the disclosure of information (for example, under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the Environmental Information Regulations 2004). Information provided to Ofcom may need to be disclosed by Ofcom in order to meet such obligations.

Non Disclosure

Ofcom expects the BBC to keep all information, correspondence and documents relating to sanctions cases strictly confidential, unless already in the public domain. Ofcom expects the BBC to keep strictly confidential any information provided to it by Ofcom as part of the sanctions process, including any provisional indication/decision on the type and level of any sanction that may be imposed<sup>70</sup>.

This does not limit what Ofcom can publish in its decision at the end of the investigation.

Time limits

- A1.68 The BBC should keep to the time limits specified in these Procedures. However, Ofcom may consider it appropriate (in the interests of fairness and/or to properly to make decisions relating to sanctions) to amend or adapt the time limits in a case. If the BBC requires an extension to a time limit it should explain in writing to Ofcom why it believes the relevant time limit should be extended.

<sup>70</sup> Ofcom may withhold material it believes to be confidential, market sensitive or legally privileged or that it is under some other legal obligation to protect from disclosure. In such cases, the BBC will be notified that relevant material has been withheld and the reasons why.
