Freedom of Information request: Right to know request

Thank you for your request for information concerning Online Safety - pages and head count.

We received this request on 1 December 2025 and we have considered your request under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (“the FOI Act”).

Your request

- The number of pages of (i) final guidance and statutory instruments, and (ii) for not yet final guidance and statutory instruments, draft versions, published by Ofcom

We do not hold information regarding the total pages of any guidance or statutory instruments published by Ofcom. Any published guidance, or draft guidance on which we are consulting, can be found on our website. Information regarding Statutory Instruments can be found on the UK Parliament website.

- The number of employees working directly or indirectly on Online Safety in Ofcom.

Our work on Online Safety encompasses a wide range of projects and includes colleagues across many different areas of Ofcom. We have therefore interpreted your request to include colleagues assigned to the Online Safety Group. As at 30 November 25 there were 283 colleagues assigned directly to the Online Safety Group.

Yours sincerely,

Information Requests

Request an internal review

If you are unhappy with the response you have received to your request for information, or think that your request was refused without a reason valid under the law, you may ask for an internal review. If you do, it will be subject to an independent review within Ofcom. We will either uphold the original decision, or reverse or modify it.

If you would like to ask us to carry out an internal review, you should get in touch within two months of the date of this letter. There is no statutory deadline for us to complete our internal review, and the time it takes will depend on the complexity of the request. But we will try to complete the review within 20 working days (or no more than 40 working days in exceptional cases) and keep you informed of our progress. Please email the Information Requests team (information.requests@ofcom.org.uk) to request an internal review.

Taking it further

If you are unhappy with the outcome of our internal review, then you have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office.
