Freedom of Information request: Right to know request

Thank you for your request for information about amateur radio callsigns.

We received this request on 20 July 2026 and we have considered your request under the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

Your request

I have recently passed an RSGB exam for amateur radio and would like to know the available callsigns. I can not find an up-to-date available resource from any previous requests.

Our response

Please refer to a previous similar Freedom of Information response here.

A list of amateur radio callsigns including previously allocated and now available call signs for foundation / intermediate and full license as of 23 June 2026 is available on our website under Spectrum Open Data Open data - Ofcom. We do not hold a list of completely new callsigns which have never been previously allocated as these are allocated via our system which generates new callsigns on demand. You may apply for a full licence call sign via this link: Ofcom Licensing services

More information on callsign allocations is available on our website.

Yours sincerely,

Request an internal review

If you are unhappy with the response you have received to your request for information, or think that your request was refused without a reason valid under the law, you may ask for an internal review. If you do, it will be subject to an independent review within Ofcom. We will either uphold the original decision, or reverse or modify it.

If you would like to ask us to carry out an internal review, you should get in touch within two months of the date of this letter. There is no statutory deadline for us to complete our internal review, and the time it takes will depend on the complexity of the request. But we will try to complete the review within 20 working days (or no more than 40 working days in exceptional cases) and keep you informed of our progress. Please email the Information Requests team (information.requests@ofcom.org.uk) to request an internal review.

Taking it further
