

From: [redacted]
Sent: 25 July 2014 20:59
To: Local TV
Subject: Opposed

I'm totally opposed to London Live reducing their local Output.

Local Tv should be that Local! Otherwise what is the point of the station?

If London Live cannot commit to the output then the license should be revoked / re advertised.

Has this station really given the station time to establish itself, after only 4 months on air?

Asking for a reduction of output and change in license wording suggests, that the long term plan of this station is to be just another channel and not a local TV channel at all!

The bigger questions that this request has brought should also be looked at.

If London Live cannot afford to be local, in the biggest market / most populated area of the UK then what hope do the rest of the local TV stations have?

The problem with this channel is not the commitment it has to local Tv output hours, but the poor quality and poor judged angle it has launched with. A youth TV approach has alienated the mass market and produced some dreadfully poor quality tv shows. The station should be looking at what it is doing wrong rather than, removing local content hours!

I repeat again...

I'm totally opposed to London Live reducing their local Output. Local Tv should be that Local! Otherwise what is the point of the station? If London Live cannot commit to the output then the license should be revoked / re advertised.