Question 14: Do you agree with our proposals to extend the existing exemption for radio equipment operated by visiting amateur radio users, to cover use by those on short visits from countries with which we have bilateral reciprocal licensing agreements?	Yes
Question 15: Do you agree with our proposals to define a temporary visit as a maximum period of three months? Please give reasons and provide evidence that supports your comments on the proposals.	No. I would recommend a period up to 6 months, allowing for the new operator to decide if they wish to be resident in the UK. Residency kicks in after 6 months, and moving to a new country involves a lot of other, may I say more important, bureaucratic and practical work. This allows time for the visiting operator to decide if they wish to stay, and if so organize their lives accordingly, including applying for a UK full license in a timely manner.

Question	Your response
	Otherwise the operator would have to make this decision within the first two months, apply, and hope the new license is granted before the grace period ends. This makes everything a lot less rushed.
