

Home Office is in agreement with Ofcom's proposal to allocate 1910-1915MHz for the Gateways of the Emergency Services Network. Whilst noting the possibility of Gateways causing interference to the Future Railway Mobile Communication System, Home Office is of the view that there are measures that would minimise interference, enabling both services to function as envisaged.