1. Overview

- 1.1 The Electronic Communications Code (the Code) is a set of rights that are intended to assist providers of electronic communications networks and/or systems of infrastructure with the installation and maintenance of their networks. Ofcom applies the Code to such providers by means of a direction under section 106 of the Communications Act 2003 (the Act).
- 1.2 Section 115 of the Act provides that Ofcom may revoke a direction applying the Code in a person's case if that person makes an application for the revocation to Ofcom, or if it appears to Ofcom that a person in whose case the Code applies is no longer the provider of an electronic communications network and/or a system of infrastructure for the purposes of which the Code applies.

What we are proposing – in brief

We are proposing to revoke the directions applying the Code to the following companies who have notified us that they no longer require Code powers and wish for their Code powers to be revoked:

Affiniti Integrated Solutions Ltd, Affinity Systems Limited, Axione UK Limited, GCI Network Solutions Limited, Lightning Fibre Limited, Meliora Networks Limited, NGE Contracting Limited, Obelisk Networks (UK) Limited, Secure Web Services Limited, Transmitair Limited, Trenches Wayleave Ltd, and Utilitas Power Ltd.

We are also proposing to revoke the directions applying the Code to the following companies, which have either been closed or dissolved and, consequently, are no longer the provider of an electronic communications network and/or system of infrastructure:

Broadway Partners Limited; Genesys Telecommunications Limited, Omne Telecommunications Limited, People's Fibre Ltd, Spring Fibre Limited, Sprintlink UK Ltd, and Westnetworks Innovations Ltd.

- 1.3 In accordance with section 107(6) and (7) of the Act, we invite comments on our proposal by 25 September 2026.
- 1.4 We will consider any responses to this consultation before reaching a final decision on whether to give directions revoking the application of the Code in these specified companies' cases.

2. Background

- 2.1 The Code is set out in Schedule 3A to the Act. It is designed to facilitate the installation and maintenance of electronic communications networks.¹ It confers rights on providers of such networks and on providers of systems of infrastructure to install and maintain apparatus on, under and over land and results in considerably simplified planning procedures.
- 2.2 Where the Code is applied in any person's case, it may be subject to restrictions and conditions set out in regulations made by the Secretary of State.²

The application of the Code

- 2.3 The Code only has effect in the case of a person to whom it is applied by a direction given by Ofcom under section 106 of the Act, or in the case of the Secretary of State or any Northern Ireland department, where the Secretary of State or that department is providing or proposing to provide an electronic communications network³.
- 2.4 Prior to the entry into force of section 106 of the Act, the Telecommunications Act 1984 (the 1984 Act) set out the rules governing the application of the telecommunications code as set out in Schedule 2 to the 1984 Act (the Telecommunications Code). The Secretary of State had power under section 7 of the 1984 Act to grant a licence, applying the Telecommunications Code to a particular person. As a result of the implementation of section 106 of the Act on 25 July 2003, the licensing regime established under the 1984 Act was abolished (subject to certain transitional provisions). For those persons in whose case the Telecommunications Code applied by virtue of a licence under section 7 of the 1984 Act immediately before 25 July 2003, paragraph 17(2) of Schedule 18 (Transitional Provisions) of the Act provides that those persons shall be treated as a person in whose case the Code applies by virtue of a direction given by Ofcom.

The revocation of the Code

- 2.5 Section 115(2) of the Act provides that Ofcom may revoke a direction applying the Code in a person's case if an application for the revocation has been made by that person.
- 2.6 Section 115(3) of the Act provides that Ofcom may revoke a direction applying the Code if, at any time, it appears to Ofcom that the person to whom the Code has been applied is not the provider of a communications network or a system of infrastructure for the purposes of which the code applies.

¹ "Electronic communications network" for the purposes of the Code has the same meaning as in section 32 of the Act.

² Section 109 of the Act – see the Electronic Communications Code (Conditions and Restrictions) Regulations 2003 (SI 2003 No. 2553), as amended by the Electronic Communications Code (Conditions and Restrictions) (Amendment) Regulations 2009 (SI 2009 No. 584), the Electronic Communications Code (Conditions and Restrictions) (Amendment) Regulations 2013 (SI 2013 No. 1403) and the Electronic Communications Code (Conditions and Restrictions) (Amendment) Regulations 2017 (SI 2017/753).

³ Section 106(3)(b) of the Act.

- 2.7 Section 115(4) of the Act requires that a revocation under section 115(2) or section 115(3) shall be made by a further direction under section 106 of the Act to the person in whose case the Code has been applied by the direction being revoked.

Statutory consultation process on proposal

- 2.8 Before giving a further direction under section 106 revoking the application of the Code in any person's case, Ofcom must publish a notification of its proposal to give the direction and consider any representations about that proposal that are made to Ofcom within the period specified in the notification⁴.
- 2.9 Such a notification must contain the following⁵:
- a statement of Ofcom's proposal⁶;
 - a statement of Ofcom's reasons for that proposal;
 - a statement of the period within which representations may be made to Ofcom about the proposal (which period must end no less than 30 days after the day of the publication of the notification⁷).
- 2.10 Ofcom must publish a notification in such manner as Ofcom considers appropriate for bringing the notification to the attention of the persons who, in Ofcom's opinion, are likely to be affected by it.⁸
- 2.11 The notification published at Annex 5 to this document is a notification for such purposes and should be read in conjunction with the entirety of this document, including the reasons set out in Section 3.

Statutory duties

General duties

- 2.12 In carrying out its functions under the Act (which includes giving a direction to revoke the application of the Code in a person's case), Ofcom's principal duty as set out in section 3 of the Act is to further the interests of citizens in relation to communications matters and to further the interests of consumers in relevant markets, where appropriate by promoting competition.
- 2.13 We must also have regard to the principles under which regulatory activities should be transparent, accountable, proportionate, consistent, and targeted only at cases in which action is needed, and any other principles appearing to us to represent the best regulatory practice.
- 2.14 Ofcom has a wide measure of discretion in balancing its statutory duties and objectives. In so doing, we will take account of all relevant considerations, including any responses received during this consultation process, in reaching our conclusions.

⁴ Section 107(6) of the Act.

⁵ Section 107(7) of the Act.

⁶ Section 115(5)(b) of the Act provides that the statement of Ofcom's proposal must include a statement of Ofcom's proposal to revoke the direction applying the Code.

⁷ Section 107(9) of the Act.

⁸ Section 107(10) of the Act.

Specific duties in relation to certain regulatory functions

- 2.15 When carrying out certain functions, which include giving a direction to apply the Code and any further direction to revoke the application of the Code, section 4 of the Act requires us to act in accordance with the six requirements set out in that section.
- 2.16 In summary, these six requirements are:
- to promote competition in the provision of electronic communications networks and services, associated facilities and the supply of directories;
 - to promote the interests of all members of the public in the United Kingdom;
 - to take account of the desirability of Ofcom's carrying out of its functions in a manner which, so far as practicable, does not favour one form of or means of providing electronic communications networks, services or associated facilities over another, i.e. to be technologically neutral;
 - to encourage, to such extent as Ofcom considers appropriate for certain prescribed purposes, the provision of network access and service interoperability, namely securing efficiency and sustainable competition, efficient investment and innovation and the maximum benefit for customers of communications providers and of persons who make associated facilities available;
 - to encourage compliance with certain standards as is necessary to facilitate service interoperability; facilitate end-to-end connectivity; facilitate the changing by end-users of their communications provider; facilitate the retention by end-users of their telephone numbers after a change of communications provider; and secure freedom of choice for the customers of communications providers.
 - to promote connectivity and access to very high capacity networks by members of the public and businesses in the United Kingdom.
- 2.17 We consider that the proposals in this consultation are consistent with these requirements, in particular, the duty to promote the interests of all members of the public in the United Kingdom.

Impact assessment

- 2.18 Section 7 of the Act requires us to carry out and publish an assessment of the likely impact implementing a proposal would have on businesses or the general public, if the impact is likely to be significant, or when a change in Ofcom's activities is major.
- 2.19 The relevant duties in relation to the proposals on which we are consulting are set out above.
- 2.20 We do not expect these proposals to have any impact on citizens and consumers because they are administrative in nature. We are proposing to revoke directions applying Code powers from companies that have told us they no longer require Code powers or from companies that have been dissolved and are therefore no longer providers of electronic communications networks or systems of infrastructure.
- 2.21 In considering the potential impact of the proposals on which we are consulting, we have considered the following options in relation to each other of the specified companies:
- give a direction to revoke the direction applying the Code; or

- not to give such a direction.

For further information about Ofcom’s approach to impact assessments, see the guidelines, Better policy-making: Ofcom’s approach to impact assessments, which are on the Ofcom website.

Equality impact assessment

- 2.22 We have given careful consideration to whether our proposal will have a particular impact on persons sharing protected characteristics (broadly including race, age, disability, sex, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, marriage and civil partnership and religion or belief in the UK and also dependents and political opinion in Northern Ireland), and in particular whether they may discriminate against such persons or impact on equality of opportunity or good relations. This assessment helps us comply with our duties under the Equality Act 2010 and the Northern Ireland Act 1998⁹.
- 2.23 When thinking about equality we think more broadly than persons that share protected characteristics identified in equalities legislation and think about potential impacts on various groups of persons (see paragraph 4.7 of our impact assessment guidance)
- 2.24 In particular, section 3(4) of the Communications Act also requires us to have regard to the needs and interests of specific groups of persons when performing our duties, as appear to us to be relevant in the circumstances. These include:
- the vulnerability of children and of others whose circumstances appear to us to put them in need of special protection;
 - the needs of persons with disabilities, older persons and persons on low incomes; and
 - the different interests of persons in the different parts of the UK, of the different ethnic communities within the UK and of persons living in rural and in urban areas.
- 2.25 We do not consider that our proposals have any impact on specific groups of persons, including those that share protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010 Act or the Northern Ireland Act 1998 Act.

⁹ Further details set out in section 149 of the Equality Act 2010 and section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998.

3. Reasons for our proposals

- 3.1 This section contains our reasons for our proposals to revoke each of the directions applying the Code to the specified companies.

Applications received pursuant to section 115(2) of the Act

Factual matters

- 3.2 Ofcom has received applications, under section 115(2) of the Act, from each of the companies listed in Table 1 (the Applicants) to revoke directions made applying the Code in that person's case.¹⁰
- 3.3 Each of the Applicants have explained that they no longer require Code powers.

Assessment

- 3.4 In considering the applications made by each of the Applicants and making the proposal above, we consider that we have acted in accordance with the relevant duties set out in sections 3 and 4 of the Act; in particular, the duty to further the interests of citizens in relation to communications matters and to promote the interests of all members of the public of the United Kingdom. We have also had regard to the principles under which regulatory activities should be transparent, accountable, proportionate, consistent and targeted only at cases in which action is needed.

- 3.5 In particular, our proposal to give directions revoking these Code powers will ensure that operators that do not need such powers are not holding them. We understand that the networks deployed by the Applicants have either been transferred to other operators or decommissioned. Additionally, each of the Applicants has explained that they are not exercising their Code powers and do not intend to do so in the future. As a result, we consider the revocation of Code powers in respect of each of these companies is appropriate and, for the reasons set out, in the interests of citizens and consumers.

Proposal

- 3.6 In accordance with section 115(2) of the Act, we propose to issue a direction under section 106¹¹ of the Act to revoke the directions applying the Code to each of the Applicants.
- 3.7 Annex 5 contains a notification of our proposal and proposed directions at Schedule 2 to that notification, which would give effect to the revocation.

Revocations pursuant to section 115(3) of the Act

Factual matters

- 3.8 Having conducted a review of our register of persons with powers under the Code¹² (the Register) against the register of companies maintained by Companies House, it has come to our attention that each of the companies listed in Table 2 (together 'the Relevant Companies') has been dissolved.

Table 2: Companies listed in the Register which have been dissolved

Company name	Company number	Date company dissolved
Broadway Partners Limited	07702073	28 August 2025
Genesys Telecommunications Limited	05295532	12 July 2022
Omne Telecommunications Limited (formerly Eon Telecommunications Limited)	03951288	20 June 2017
People's Fibre Ltd	11895073	2 January 2024
Spring Fibre Limited	12225396	4 January 2026
Sprintlink UK Ltd	03930041	16 June 2026
Westnetworks Innovations Limited	12145094	31 January 2023

¹¹ Section 115(4) of the Act provides that a revocation under that section shall be by a further direction under section 106 of the Act to the person in whose case the electronic communications code has been applied by the direction being revoked.

Assessment

- 3.9 In considering this proposal, we consider that we have acted in accordance with the relevant duties set out in sections 3 and 4 of the Act in particular our duty to further the interests of citizens in relation to communications matters and to promote the interests of all members of the public of the United Kingdom. We have also had regard to the principles under which regulatory activities should be transparent, accountable, proportionate, consistent and targeted only at cases in which action is needed.
- 3.10 In particular, our proposal to give directions revoking these Code powers will ensure that companies that are dissolved and are therefore no longer providers of electronic communications networks or systems of infrastructure are removed from the public register of persons with powers under the Code. We understand that each of the Relevant Companies appears to have either transferred its network to another operator before being dissolved, did not deploy any network, or was dissolved at least three years ago.¹³ As a result, we consider the revocation of Code powers in respect of each of the Relevant Companies is appropriate and, for the reasons set out, in the interests of citizens and consumers.

Proposal

- 3.11 It appears to us that each of the Relevant Companies is no longer the provider of an electronic communications network or system of infrastructure for the purposes of which the Code applies.
- 3.12 Therefore, in accordance with section 115(3) of the Act, we propose to issue a direction under section 106 of the Act to revoke the directions applying the Code to each of the Relevant Companies.
- 3.13 Annex 5 contains a notification of our proposal and draft directions, at Schedule 3 to that notification, which would give effect to the revocation.

Next Steps

- 3.14 We will consider any responses we may receive by the closing date before making our decision as to whether we should give directions revoking each of the directions applying the Code to the Applicants and the Relevant Companies.

The overview section in this document is a simplified high-level summary only. The proposals we are consulting on and our reasoning are set out in the full document.

¹³ Before exercising certain Code rights, among other things, Code operators are required to ensure that sufficient funds are available to meet certain liabilities that may arise during a period of 3 years after certain events, for example, when an order is made, or any person takes action, for the dissolution of the Code operator (Regulation 16 of the Electronic Communications Code (Conditions and Restrictions) Regulations 2003/2553)

A2. Ofcom's consultation principles

Ofcom has seven principles that it follows for every public written consultation:

Before the consultation

- A2.1 Wherever possible, we will hold informal talks with people and organisations before announcing a big consultation, to find out whether we are thinking along the right lines. If we do not have enough time to do this, we will hold an open meeting to explain our proposals, shortly after announcing the consultation.

During the consultation

- A2.2 We will be clear about whom we are consulting, why, on what questions and for how long.
- A2.3 We will make the consultation document as short and simple as possible, with a summary of no more than two pages. We will try to make it as easy as possible for people to give us a written response. If the consultation is complicated, we may provide a short Plain English / Cymraeg Clir guide, to help smaller organisations or individuals who would not otherwise be able to spare the time to share their views.
- A2.4 We will consult for up to ten weeks, depending on the potential impact of our proposals.
- A2.5 A person within Ofcom will be in charge of making sure we follow our own guidelines and aim to reach the largest possible number of people and organisations who may be interested in the outcome of our decisions. Ofcom's Consultation Champion is the main person to contact if you have views on the way we run our consultations.
- A2.6 If we are not able to follow any of these seven principles, we will explain why.

After the consultation

- A2.7 We think it is important that everyone who is interested in an issue can see other people's views, so we usually publish all the responses on our website as soon as we receive them. After the consultation we will make our decisions and publish a statement explaining what we are going to do, and why, showing how respondents' views helped to shape these decisions.

SCHEDULE 2

[Proposed] Direction under section 106 of the Communications Act 2003, made pursuant to section 115(4) of the Act (the “Direction”), revoking a direction applying the electronic communications code in the case of Affiniti Integrated Solutions Ltd, whose company number is 02817039 (“the Applicant”).

Background

1. The telecommunications code set out in Schedule 2 to the Telecommunications Act 1984 applied to the Applicant immediately before the coming into force of section 106 of the Act. Therefore, by virtue of the transitional provisions in paragraph 17(2) of Schedule 18 of the Act, the Applicant is treated as a person in whose case the Code applies by virtue of a direction given by Ofcom.
2. The Applicant has since applied to Ofcom for a further direction revoking the direction referred to in paragraph 1 above, in accordance with section 115(2) of the Act.
3. Prior to making a direction under section 106 of the Act to revoke the direction referred to in paragraph 1 above, Ofcom must publish a notification of its proposal to give that direction and consider any representations about that proposal that are made to Ofcom within the period specified in the notification.
4. On 26 August 2026, Ofcom published, in accordance with sections 107(6) of the Act, a notification of its proposal to give a further direction revoking the direction referred to in paragraph 1 above for the reasons set out in the consultation document accompanying that notification. That notification invited representations to Ofcom by no later than 5pm on 25 September 2026.
5. [Ofcom has considered every representation about the proposal made to it/Ofcom did not receive any representations about this proposal]. For the reasons set out in the consultation document accompanying the above mentioned notification, Ofcom has considered and acted in accordance with its general duties in section 3 of the Act and the six requirements in section 4 of the Act.

Decision

6. Ofcom hereby directs, in accordance with section 106 of the Act, that the direction applying the Code in the case of the Applicant under section 106(3) of the Act shall be revoked.
7. This Direction shall take effect on the day it is published.

Interpretation

8. In this Direction—
 - a) “Act” means the Communications Act 2003;
 - b) “Code” means the electronic communications code set out in Schedule 3A to the Communications Act 2003;
 - c) “Ofcom” means the Office of Communications.
