Summary of main non-typographical changes made to the draft Statement in preparation for the final Statement

Ofcom has today published its final Statement, "Review of the wholesale broadband access markets".

This final Statement follows a draft Statement which was notified to the European Commission for its comments on 19 May 2014.

To arrive at our final Statement we have made a series of typographical and non-typographical changes to the draft statement.

To aid the reading of the final Statement we have set out below a summary of the main non-typographic changes we have made and where they can be found in the final Statement. This is not intended to be an exhaustive list of changes made and, further, we have not set out where we have made typographical changes.
