

"I disagree with this proposal as it will mean that Internet based businesses in NI are further disadvantaged. GB and worldwide customers are already confused by the very local holidays that we have and proposals to increase the number of days without post could damage business further."