

The Government has decided that 'I didn't do it' is not a defence. Some people will almost certainly end up in court having done nothing wrong."