

Users of open Wifi (or similar) should not be considered 'subscribers' in the terms of the code, as doing so places an undue burden on social organisations and non-profits use of wifi. Libraries, social groups, adhoc meetings, etc commonly provide open wifi access for their patrons. Counting their users as 'subscribers' under the code would seriously limit the use of wifi by social groups.