

This entire act even getting 'consulted' about is an absolute outrage and an abomination. This is the rights of copyright holders being taken too far. The access to the Internet should be a human right, and while i agree there needs to be deterrents to people using unlicensed copyrighted material, having a '3 strikes and you're out' policy is unacceptable as the system will be open to abuse and they copyright holders who also have bottomless pockets will be able to steamroller the individual through the risk of court action and many will be wrongfully prosecuted.
