Ofcom should only publish this response after the consultation has ended:

Yes

Additional comments:

Question 1: Do you agree that copy management would broaden the range of HD content available on DTT and help secure its long term viability as a platform? :

No I do not I believe it cripple this media

Question 2: Do you agree that the BBC's proposed multiplex licence amendment represents the most appropriate means for securing an effective content management system on HD DTT? :

No

Question 3: Do you agree with the proposed change to Condition 6 in the Multiplex B Licence? :

No I have already paid my license fee there should be no further restriction on the content this has provided.

Question 4: Do you agree that Multiplexes C and D should be granted a similar amendment to their Licences as Multiplex B?. :

No I have already paid my license fee there should be no further restriction on the content this has provided.

Question 5: Do you agree that the BBC's proposed approach for implementing content management would safeguard citizens and consumers legitimate use of HD content, and if not, what additional guarantees would be appropriate? :

No the bbc should ask it's self a simple question what would Lord Reith do? I don't think he would have anything to do with this.

Question 6: Do you agree that the BBC?s proposed choice of content management technologies will have only a negligible impact on the cost of HD DTT receivers and their interoperability with other HD consumer equipment? . :

No I do not I believe it will drive the cost of this equipment up. It may even be against european trade rules

Question 7: Do stakeholders agree that the BBC?s proposed Huffman Code licensing arrangements would have a negligible effect on the market for HD DTT receivers? :

No the objective should be to provide the highest quality broadcast possible not attempt to artificially degrade it with a pointless and circumventable degradation.

Question 8: Do the BBC?s proposed content management states and their permitted use for different categories of HD content meet the requirements of other HD broadcasters on DTT? . :

You would need to ask those broadcasters

Question 9: Are there any issues that you consider Ofcom should take into account in assessing the BBC?s proposal, that have not been addressed by this consultation?:

The word broadcast has been used many times in the questions used to form this response. The imposition of this restrictive practise on BBC content will make the BBC a Narrowcaster by removing significant numbers viewers as a result of the proposed implementation of DRM. It will reduce choice, is anti competitive and it completely at odds with the founding principles of the BBC.

Lord Reith would have sent this idea packing.

I assume the BBC will be rewriting it?s motto to Nation Shall Speak Peace Unto Nation so long as they have the right decoder chipset.
