

Question 1: Which of the three options do consultees favour, and why?:

2. As much As possible should be described so I can understand programmes. I shouldn't have to miss essential information because I can't see the screen. Less popular but complicated programmes should be described, especially sport and documentaries

Question 2: Do consultees have any further suggestions for future access service provision? If so please provide the rationale for these suggestions:

Equality for All - You subtitle most programs so why can't they be audio described. Why aren't repeats automatically AD'ed.
