

I would favour option 2 in your consultation which is to increase audio description to 20% over all channels. I really enjoy television with audio description because it obviates the need for my family to talk me through the program. I think it is a brilliant service and often if programs are not audio described I will not watch them because I miss so much detail. I think the people who do the audio description are very good at it and I consider it a brilliant service.
