

Question 1: Which of the three options do consultees favour, and why?:

Option 2

Question 2: Do consultees have any further suggestions for future access service provision? If so please provide the rationale for these suggestions:

I would be keen to up the quota from 20% but it is a fair enough starting point. I use the service. Not all the things I want to watch are audio described. David Attenbrough's 'Life' has been audio described but didn't appear to be working this week. One christmas episode of Dr Who was audio described but was very 'base-y'. Sometimes the quality of the output might need to be monitored. There are some programmes, often documentaries, that are not audio described.
