

Question 1: Which of the three options do consultees favour, and why?:

I favour option 2 because being visually impaired and also being interested in a wide range of programmes I would appreciate it if as many channels as possible were made to produce as many programmes as possible with audio description.

Question 2: Do consultees have any further suggestions for future access service provision? If so please provide the rationale for these suggestions:

Comments:

When audio description is available it is always very helpful. I have Sky at home and on some of the channels such as BBC1 it is not available until the repeats or when the programme is on BBC3. To a certain extent I don't mind this because I just have a routine of watching the programme at a different time but would appreciate a wider range of programmes with audio description available.