

Question 1: Which of the three options do consultees favour, and why?:

i favour option 2. currently, as a blind person, i watch as many programmes as possible which use Audio discription. in some cases watching programmes 'because' they are audio discribed, including those i would not normally watch.

Question 2: Do consultees have any further suggestions for future access service provision? If so please provide the rationale for these suggestions:

the provision for audio discription should include remote controls. i currently record programmes advertised as AD but cannot access the on screen menus. the instructions given on screen refer to colours of buttons, i am informed, which in turn makes the choice of my recordingss inaccessible. talking remote controls should become part of the regulatory responsibility of the ofcom.
